The future of every society is determined by the level of development of the education system, which is an integral part of it and a vital necessity. Today, reforming and improving the continuous education system of our country, which is on the path of independent development, raising it to a new level of quality, introducing advanced pedagogical and information technologies into it, and increasing the effectiveness of education have been raised to the level of state policy. In the course of the development of pedagogical technologies and their introduction into the educational process, as well as the rapid exchange and improvement of information technologies, opportunities were created for everyone to strengthen their professional training and skills. Bringing advanced pedagogical technologies into the educational process is one of the tasks of the "National Personnel Training Program". Today, innovative pedagogical technologies and interactive methods are widely used in education, especially in teaching foreign languages. The application of innovative pedagogical technologies to foreign language education - orientation of a person according to the demands of society, organization of education based on these demands, formation of a person as a fully mature staff based on the relevance of educational principles and methods, full development of his abilities and opportunities is to create favorable conditions for its manifestation and development.

Another characteristic of innovative pedagogical technologies is the priority of the student's activity, the fact that the student is the main figure in the educational process. In the educational process, the correct formation of knowledge, lexical, grammatical, and pronunciation concepts, the correct composition of the knowledge system, and self-control skills in the student's mind are components of innovative pedagogical technologies. Today, the most effective teaching methods in the educational process, which are guaranteed to achieve the goals set by teachers and pedagogues, form the basis for students to think independently, make independent decisions, solve their problems, and get out of various situations without difficulty. Such teaching methods capable of being prepared are the most advanced features of pedagogical technology. Today, with the initiatives of our president, great attention is being paid to language learning in our country. If we look at the above, we will once again be convinced of how important language is in the development of our country.

LITERATURE ANALYSIS:

Currently, not only foreign language teaching, but all subjects to find new teaching methods and try them in practice a lot of work is being done on vision. This is education today one of the most important problems to be solved to improve the process is one. If previously teaching a foreign language was considered to be the study of this language system, In the following years, the main goal of teaching is to teach students a foreign language to develop their speech. It should be said that this is in learning a foreign language goals are not set by themselves or by other people or persons, but changes in linguistics and psychology and the society of society are closely related to it. For example: Taking the audiolingual method let's see. Changes in the science of linguistics led to the emergence of this method, i.e structural flow was affected.

It includes the following factors: - Teaching a foreign language must first begin with teaching oral speech; - Language learning is carried out based on various structures and speech patterns; - Exercises are also based on the language, repeating the language material many times requires that there be demanding exercises; - Grammatical examples and selection of lexicon of the mother tongue with a foreign language should depend on the results of the comparison. - Pronunciation requires a lot of attention. The main disadvantage of this method is the large number of mechanical exercises and real is the lack of speech exercises. The founders of this method were Methodist scientists Ch. Friz and R. Ladolar. For example: Ch. Friz: the main content of the initial stage is structures he says he should organize learning. Grammar is also about building skills it is appropriate to be based on this [Sh Alimov 2017.2 page].

ANALYSIS AND RESULTS.

Learning a foreign language is a multifaceted education, and a person who is complicated in this process experiences psychological changes. Including mother tongue and foreign language, a comparison process occurs. Different methods of teaching in this process technologies are used. With the help of modern pedagogical technologies teaching by comparing the foreign language with the mother tongue gives effective results. Foreign language teaching requires knowledge of its methodology. Methodology and technologies are important in the process of learning a foreign language. The lesson There are various methods of methodological science in organization. In the methodology of foreign language teaching widely used methods: communicative didactic method, intercultural communication organization method, and exercise organization method are considered. Foreign languages are an important component of professional education in modern society. Cooperation with foreign partners in specialists in various fields because of the high rate of doing so, has a demand for language learning is high. Currently, foreign languages are taught in schools, colleges, lyceums, and higher education institutions being taught. For those who want to have different levels of language knowledge, There are innovative types of educational materials. Excellent knowledge of a foreign language and the practical methods and qualifications of teachers to get a certain degree It depends on information technologies and modern teaching methods the ability to use helps to quickly understand new materials. By combining different methods, the teacher can solve specific educational programs will be able. In this regard, teachers and students learn foreign languages they should get acquainted with modern methods of teaching. As a result, the goals and the skills of choosing the most effective ways to achieve them are formed. It is effective to use several methods of teaching and learning will give. Nowadays, innovations are increasing in every field. [Feruza Zaipova, Sabohat Orinova Foreign page 2] The learner's potential and level in teaching a foreign language depends on his age Step-by-step teaching gives good results. In this, students 1. teaching at the primary level, 2. teaching at the middle level, 3. at the advanced level divided into groups based on teaching. From the teacher for each stage, a special active program will be developed. Active methods of education not only in the educational process help to encourage students to think actively and do practical activities but to form positive teaching motivation, reveal creative abilities, and help to develop, and master the educational material with high efficiency. For each stage of the lesson, not only the teacher, but also using active methods that are effective for students I recommend that you familiarize yourself with some of them, almost that all techniques are mobile and not only in foreign language classes, but also in other I would like to emphasize that it can also be used in academic subjects. 1. Organizational stage. "Carousel" ("Merry Go Round") This technique is from imaginative thinking, memory allows use. The first student receives a card from the teacher and this word names associations with. Along the chain until the card returns to the teacher is transmitted. Every student has the opportunity to express their thoughts quickly At this stage, students "remember" the previous material. Speaking from the principle of "Intellectual warm-up" during the lesson to develop abilities can be used. As a rule, the lexical bases of such exercises are located on the board, especially at the initial stage. The growth of the "snowball" is two can continue in the following direction: increase in vocabulary and/or grammar with increasing complexity. (EXAMPLE: I like to read electronic books I like to read books. I like to read e-books because they are easy to use.) Working with signal cards This past material presentation was in the form of cards. This method is used to structure the material, readers help restore attention.

In short, by using innovative methods in English lessons, as a result, students' logical thinking skills develop, speech becomes fluent, and the ability to answer quickly and correctly is formed. Such methods and games make the student eager for knowledge. The student is thoroughly prepared for classes wants to see. This makes students the subjects of the educational process and the use of different tables in the process of teaching a foreign language the effect is high. Students are known to use tables in the educational process as a grammatical rule, for example, making sentences using tenses, are new and can place words. The need to learn a foreign language was high at the same time, as the educational process, modern information technologies, and innovative Effective use of educational technologies make this process effective. Effectiveness of innovative educational technologies in their educational process when it is used correctly and productively..
